COVID-19 Information

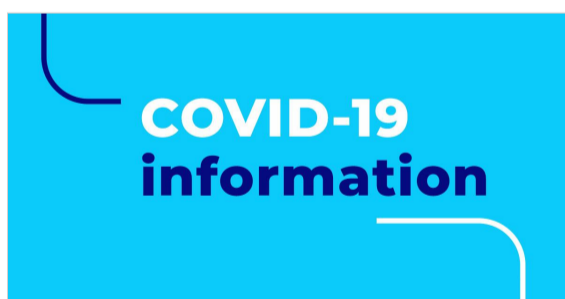

ALD Automotive is closely monitoring the COVID-19 situation and following instructions given by the World Health Organization (WHO), the Societe Generale group and local authorities.

We have put in place the necessary measures to ensure business continuity, with consideration for staff and client health and safety as a priority. Specific measures such as sanitary measures, distancing measures, rotation by sub-teams or working from home arrangements, when necessary, are in place to reduce any risk of contamination.

While the situation imposes some restrictions, we remain available to provide you with the mobility assistance and support you need during this difficult time. Please feel free to contact us should you have any questions by clicking here.

Our aim is to ensure that customer service levels are maintained, and our teams are working hard to achieve this during this challenging period.

Thank you for the confidence you have placed in ALD Automotive to look after your mobility needs and please do not hesitate to contact us if we can be of any further assistance.
